

PRIORITIZING FOR A SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME

Successful transitions are the result of careful planning of your needs and concerns. To focus your planning efforts and our services during your divorce process, please read this list and check the priority description that best applies. Feel free to add to the list if you have needs and concerns we haven't thought of.

Needs and concerns	Low	Medium	High	N/A
Income security
Staying in the house
Developing my independence
Maintaining my sanity
Having control over my life
Maintaining relationships with children
Developing skills for dealing with (ex) spouse
Getting spouse to acknowledge wrongdoing
Making the "other woman/other man" pay
Figuring out what went wrong
Getting revenge
Providing for the kids
Developing a parenting schedule
Having enough for retirement
Avoiding huge court costs/legal fees
Getting this over with quickly
Assuming responsibility for myself & my future / moving on Developing a new support system
Avoiding embarrassment
Child custody
Keeping property
Achieving some sense of closure
Making sure the children's best interests are addressed
Providing self-care and time for healing
OTHER:

4101 Lake Boone Trail, Suite 118 • Raleigh, North Carolina 27607
 Phone: (919) 787-6668 • Fax: (919)787-6361 • email: firminfo@rosen.com

PERSONALIZING A SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME

Now that we know which areas of your life/divorce are priorities, it's important to be sure we understand what "success" will look like once we achieve it in each area of your life. For each of the needs/concerns you previously ranked high or medium, take a few moments to personalize that need and briefly describe the outcome you desire.

For example, if you gave a high priority to "Developing a Parenting Schedule," you might write the following:

Priority: Plenty of time with my children

Success: Kids spend at least every other week and alternate holidays with me.

PRIORITIES	WHAT SUCCESS WILL LOOK LIKE
1.
2.
3.
4.
5.
6.
7.
8.

PLANNING FOR A SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME

We're here to guide you and make sure you have the information necessary to make good decisions throughout your divorce process. While much of the work involved will be done by your professional team here at Rosen Divorce, we find that clients who take a proactive role in the process achieve significantly better results. In order to help us create a plan to accomplish your objectives, please list some things YOU can do to further those objectives determined on the previous page (what success will look like).

What Can / Do?
Self Care:
1.
2.
3.
Financial Security:
1.
2.
3.

What Can / Do? (Cont.)
Relationships (with ex-spouse, children, relatives, friends, support):
1.
2.
3.
Other:
1.
2.

And finally, tell us:

What do you look forward to in your immediate future?

What do you look forward to in the not-too-distant future?

4101 Lake Boone Trail, Suite 118 • Raleigh, North Carolina 27607
Phone: (919) 787-6668 • Fax: (919)787-6361 • email: firminfo@rosen.com